Lyceum Presents Astronomer Monday

Dr. John B. Irwin, astronomer from the University of Southern California, will speak on the "Practical Values of Astronomy" next Monday at 9:45 a.m. during the break in the Music auditorium. The public is invited to hear him.

Dr. John B. Irwin

Scholarships Available

Applications are being accepted for three additional scholarship funds for BJC students. Two Ed Jack Sampson awards are available for students planning to attend the College of Idaho. Also a $100 award from the Boise Deputies Bridge Club will be given to a student who plans to attend any four-year college in Idaho. Students should make application for these awards with Dr. H. E. Frischman, 108 Science Building, room C, before May 8.

Heilman Elected New ASB President

Craig Heilman edged out his sole opponent in the ASB elections for President last Thursday. Craig, a senior major, played football for BJC last year. He is a 1963 graduate of Boise High.

"I feel that the biggest problem that will face us next year is school spirit. The representation of the clubs in the new Senate should help. With the help of the new Senate and a lot of hard work, we hope to overcome this problem," Craig stated.

In the vice presidential race, Sandy Christensen, physical therapy major, beat her opponent, Frank Frantz.

Helen Scott, secretarial science major, and Linda Adam, business, were elected secretary and treasurer respectively. Both were unopposed.

Gary Slee, physical education, and Janice Labrum and Norene Wright, education, were elected sophomore representatives. They were opposed by Ron Brackett, Ray Redford and Sandra Cook.

Sally Paul, ASB vice president and chairman of the Election Committee, said, "The voting booths were a real success. We regret that only a small percentage of the student body voted."

WELCOME BACK DR. CHAFFEE!

BJC President Dr. Eugene B. Chaffee returned recently from Mexico, tanned and rested after an extended leave. He will maintain short hours on campus daily. THE ROUNDUP staff joins the students and faculty on extending congratulations on his recovery.

Coed PE Show Set

The BJC women's PE classes will present their second annual PE Show Wednesday, April 29, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the gymnasium, under the direction of Helen Westfall, women's PE instructor.

Included in the program will be exhibitions of basketball, badminton, conditioning exercises, folk and square dancing, an Indian club routine, rope jumping for endurance, a six-group rope jumping routine arranged by Ann McKibben, two six-girl teams in a triple rope routine, tumbling and tap dancing.

During the program, special exhibits concerning bowling, and personal and community health will be displayed in the foyer.

"Down In the Valley" to be Produced By Music Department April 24-25

Opera Sweethearts

BRUCE WALKER and JANICE LABRUM will sing lead roles in the BJC opera, "Down in the Valley."

The BJC Music Department's folk opera, "Down in the Valley" by Kurt Weill, will be presented Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15 in the Auditorium. Directing the production is Miss Georgia Standing, voice instructor. The BJC choir will comprise the chorus.

The cast includes: Janice Labrum as Jenny; Bruce Walker, Brock Weaver; David Eichmann, commentator; Ron Brackett, preacher and guard; Bob Mortensen, Bouche, and Ted Franklin, Jenny's father.

The story, set 100 years ago, is the lynching of Brock Weaver for the murder of the villainous Thomas Bouche, over the love of the beautiful Jenny Parsons. The cast was able to utilize many of the Centennial costumes worn by Boiseans last year, Miss Standing explained.

Curtain Raiser

Czeckov's one-act play, "The Boer," will be presented as a curtain raiser to the opera, featuring Mr. and Mrs. John Woodworth and Mr. John Warwick, of the Speech and English department.

Faculty and students will be admitted free with their activity tickets.

Students to Attend Conference at C of I

Eight Boise Junior College students will participate in the sixth annual Orientation in Politics Conference at the College of Idaho tomorrow and Saturday. Delegates are: Ray Conner, James Voulelis, Keith May, C. Brent Jackson, Pat Burke, Jean Mohler, Sally Paul and Carol S. Mitchell. They will be accompanied by Mr. Antonio Lapitan, American Government instructor.

The conference is being sponsored by the Oregon Council for Education in Politics, a non-profit organization that strives to acquaint college students with political issues.

BJC Dress Regulations Cited

"Once again it is time to remind some students of the Clothing Regulations at Boise Junior College," announced Miss Helen Moore, Dean of Women, and Mr. E. W. Wilkinson, Dean of Men.

Reference is made to paragraph, "Clothing Tips," under section 5, "Regulations," of the Student Handbook 1963-64.

In conjunction with the above regulation the following specific items are considered inappropriate and are prohibited on campus—in the classroom and/or the Student Union:

1. T-shirts, sweatshirts, etc., that are worn out, torn or dirty; women's slacks, pedal-pushers, cut-offs, shorts, Bermudas and blue jeans.

2. Thongs and/or bare feet; high school sweaters.

3. All similar items that detract from a college student's image as a mature person.

"The implication here is that while engaged in any formal academic pursuit one should at least be properly dressed," the Deans stated.

BJC Choir Participates In Wednesday Concert

The Boise Junior College choir joined the choirs of Northwest Nazarene College, the College of Idaho and the Boise Philharmonic Wednesday night in the Boise High auditorium in a performance of the "Finale" of Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony," under the direction of Jacques Brouman, Philharmonic director.

The BJC group will not perform with the combined choirs Friday at the College of Idaho because it will be singing in the opera "Down in the Valley," at BJC.

WHERE WERE YOU??

Aren't BJC students interested in campus happenings? Aren't they cultural minded? The BJC Concert Symphony Orchestra gave its final performance of the season last week in an almost empty auditorium. This is a fine reward for the musicians' many hours of practice.

Only a handful of students attended the interesting and educational film "Easter Island," sponsored by the Lyceum committee. The BJC student body should be embarrassed when a distinguished speaker comes to the campus and is greeted by less than 50 students. No less a disgrace to the college is the poorly attended Foreign Film series.

Next Monday the Lyceum committee is bringing an astronomer to speak during the break. Let's all attend this special assembly and prove that the students of Boise Junior College are interested in college level aesthetic events.

A Student Suggestion . . .

BJC students and faculty have a closer relationship than most since they are in a smaller school. However, this relationship may be a hindrance rather than a help.

Granted, students may be able to gain knowledge in classes from their instructors and they can talk with their instructors after classes with more intimacy than can students at larger classes. But, it is exactly this intimacy that prohibits students from speaking really openly to their instructors.

Student-teacher retreats are regular features of the college life at larger colleges and they give the students of these schools an opportunity to express their opinions on many different subjects, ranging from "College Student Morals" to "Historical Relationship Between Greek Mythology and Modern Religions." These retreats are usually very interesting and rewarding for both students and teachers and are conducted, generally, off-campus at some location away from interruptions of town life.

This is Student Government?

Well, we elected Student Body officers last week. Many may not be aware of this, since only less than one-tenth of the student body bothered to vote. There was a nominating assembly in the SUB and later there was another "assembly" during which the candidates addressed a crowded noisy morning assemblage in the SUB. Actually, there was more interest and controversy in the Homecoming Queen election.

Whose fault is this indifference? Certainly not the candidates, for they were the ones who cared enough to participate in student government, and had the courage to show interest in campus affairs. It was not the election committee, because they worked long hours planning assemblies and a voting procedure that was convenient and dignified.

WORDS WORTH REPEATING . . .

2.5 SEEMS LITTLE ENOUGH—With the many problems of student government taxing the minds of the leaders of the Everett Junior College student body, there now appears before us one of whether or not the people within our government are really interested in staying one of our leaders.

In last week's session of the Student Council, there was a big row over the grade requirements one may hold and still participate in the student government.

Two students within the government have not, during the past quarter, kept their GPA up to the standards set by the constitution. We feel that, if the present student officers earnestly want to maintain their present positions, there should be no need for argument.

To elaborate, it is our feeling that, if any one officer is earnest in his desire to hold his position in the student government, he would not have let his grades slip below the debated standard set by the framers of the ASB constitution. Whether or not the constitution meant the GPA to include the entire year or just one quarter is irrelevant; as long as the officers hold positions in our government, and purport to run our school, they should not, in the year or in any given quarter, let their grades slip down to something that would be debated, and risk losing their coveted position in the governing body.

Let us hope that, during the present quarter, the guilty ones within the ruling body get down to business, and keep their grades at all times above the minimum 2.5 GPA. If they don't, we don't feel they have the needed incentive to remain within our government.

—The Clipper, Everett Junior College, Everett, Wash.

And Here We Have...

BJC's lauded DJ started out his career as a college playwright, majoring in English composition with a minor in French. He completed his collegiate era substituting as his thesis a three-act play. With the advent of a family, he turned to the tranquility of the teaching profession.

When not teaching he idles his time by indulging in stage work, including serving as a director of the Boise Little Theater, putting in his garden, rejuvenating and customizing his house, working in ceramics, and ignoring the ill state of repair of his electric potter's wheel. He also cheerfully finances his three children, John, Jr., freshman; Nancy, a senior at the U. of I., and his post grad son, George, who is at the University of Minnesota. Currently he is directing the upcoming Shakespearean play, "Comedy of Errors," and is mighty father of the Rodeo Club.

Write Us a Letter

Letters to the editor are pretty scarce around the Boise Junior College Roundup office. The staff is wondering if the students and faculty realize we will print letters if they are brought in.

Scanning through other papers from other colleges and universities, we find all kinds of interesting letters from students as well as faculty and administrators. We are sure that students and faculty here have complaints or compliments about our own college life, or is our life so boring we have nothing to say?

This is undoubtedly not so, because we have heard students comment but never on paper. Is everyone here at BJC satisfied with the status quo or are we all "in boxes"?

Letter to the Editor

The parking lot situation is a mess and a disgrace to BJC! The paper cluttered lot is bad enough, but the broken glass is intolerable and unnecessary. At least two students and one faculty member have gotten flat tires attributed to glass while parking in the college lot.

The Executive Council has promised action but the eyesore still remains. By the time this is in print let's hope that the Campus Cleanup Committee has eliminated the problem.—"Flat Tired."

Roundup In Retrospect

10 Years Ago

The Valkyries, in a song-fest that lasted from 12:30 a.m. until 5:00 a.m., helped initiate 27 new pledges.

BJC set two track records at the invitational meet last week at Eastern Oregon College of Education. Although BJC placed third in the meet it was not through lack of effort on the parts of Don White who set a 100-yard dash record at 10.00, and "Sheep" Kilpatrick with a javelin throw of 176' 3 3/4".

5 Years Ago

With a theme of "Chinese Temple Garden" the annual Spring Formal will be held next week. Billy May will provide the music and tickets will be $2.50 per couple and $1.00 for spectators.

St. Margaret's School, the place where BJC first held classes, was torn down this week amidst tears of nostalgia. Many former students and faculty, including President Chaffee, who taught there, were on hand at the demolition.

Inside The Library

The portrait of the "Lady in Blue" has been in the library some time in the reference room. Who is the lady? And why is the old grandfather clock in the library?

This clock (which chimes three tones on the quarter hour and indicates the phases of the moon) the portrait and a library of 1500 volumes were donated to Boise Junior College by the late Senator Rockwell of Hailey in honor of his wife, Lallah Rookh Rockwell. Mrs. Rockwell is the lady in the portrait, which was unveiled at a student body assembly in 1944.

Mr. Rockwell served in the state Senate from 1914-18 and was re-elected in 1928. He was a member of the State Board of Regents and the State Board of Education for five years, and both he and his wife were active in the field of public education for many years. He bequeathed the library, clock and portrait to Boise Junior College because the Rockwells considered Boise their second home and because the college is a public-owned school.

The clock will be repaired and with the portrait (and the 1500 books, of course) will be moved into the new library this summer.

The Card Catalog

The card catalog, ostensibly, is a device to aid students. Actually, it is a device devised by librarians for librarians. The librarian employs the card catalog in the following way:

BJC student Billy Brown wants (or, more likely, is required) to read a book by an author named Ivan O'Toole. His first step is to go to the library, find some books with authors whose names begin with "T" and try to locate the book. After not finding any book by Ivan O'Toole in this section, Billy's second step is to ask a librarian if she knows where he can find a book about science or English or something like that by Ivan O'Toole or somebody like that.

This is where the librarian gives a chance to use her trustiest weapon — that card catalog. In answer to Billy's query, she can simply and clearly say, "Have you checked the card catalog?"

Lambda Delta Sigma

The Lambda Delta Sigma Variety Show, under the direction of Kaye McLean and George Hobson, will be held April 30 and May 1, at 8:15 p.m. in the LDS West Boise Stake House, 3200 Catala. Admission is $1.50 for family, 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Talent to be presented includes folk singers, classical dancers, vocal numbers, humorous skits and acts, etc. The money earned is to be put in a scholarship fund. Tickets are being sold by members of the Lambda Delta Sigma and at the door.

Golden Z's

Sally Barclay was chosen as Outstanding Pledge and will be the pledge captain next year. It was announced at the recent candle light initiation of Golden Z's. Other pledges are Verla Bates, Marilyn Carman, Carole Mitchell, Janice Stoffile, Virginia Wilkerson, Linda McVey, Lois Klinchuch, Melissa Roberts, Linda Day and Ann Simpson.

Rodeo Club

The Rodeo Club is sponsoring a car smash all day Friday in the Student Union parking lot. For a small fee, students and faculty will be able to write pet peevs on a car and smash the epitaphs with sledge hammers.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"We Like Our Jobs" BJC Dormitory Directors Agree

By Beverlee Waasler
Being a dorm mother is a very rewarding experience, agree the Resident Directors of Boise Junior College.

Mrs. Irene Balcom of Driscoll Hall holds seniority because she has been a dorm mother for ten years in a men's dorm and three years in a sorority house. She says a dorm mother must be a strong understanding person with a sense of humor and able to accept pranks. She still receives letters from boys and girls she knew many years ago. "Life is never as living with boys," says Mrs. Balcom. They even bring their ducks they have shot (feathers and all).

Mrs. Addie Wescott, a mother of three, is rather reserved and is the dorm mother at Morrison Hall. She finds her most rewarding time as "just being with the girls." Her ability to keep calm was tested during the series of prowler scares. She considers herself not only a dorm counselor but also a mother-away-from-home to the girls. She has been at Morrison Hall for almost two years and this is her first experience in this kind of work.

Quiet and soft-spoken is Mrs. Nell Ellison of Falk House. This is her first experience also as a dorm mother. She states that living with the girls is like having a big family, where everyone gets along very well. Mrs. Ellison has lived in Boise since 1939 and is a mother of a BJC graduate. She says that a dorm mother must have patience and especially have a liking for young people.

In spite of varied problems, all three would like to continue in their positions; and all agree that "there's no other job like it!"

Courses Take Field Trips

The Home Economics textiles class has taken two field trips recently. The first was to the Idaho Historical Museum where Jerry Sainey demonstrated a spinning wheel, carding and weaving. The second trip was to the Elmer Korte where they heard a talk of shopping etiquette, merchandising and "Cycles in Fashion" by Mrs. Terrence O'Rourke, textile coordinator, and Mrs. Zach Stringfellow, buyer. Accompanying the coeds was Mrs. Alma Allison, Home Economics instructor.

Beverlee Bond and Emmett Bond are the destinations of 40 members of the BJC Geology class recently, under the supervision of Dr. Paul Nelson, instructor.

Faculty Members Attend Meetings

BJC administrators and faculty members who have been attending professional meetings to keep abreast of current developments include: Vice President W. L. Gottemberg, Dean of Faculty Dr. A. H. Chaburn and Dr. Elsie M. Buck, Mathematics instructor — Idaho College Presidents and Deans Association, at McCall. Dr. H. K. Fritchman—25th Annual Biology Colloquium at ISU in Corvallis. Dr. D. J. Obee—Pacific Northwest Conference on Higher Education at Western Washington Teachers College, Bellingham, Wash. Mr. Robert F. Jones—Conference of the Idaho Association of School Administrators, Pocatello. Mrs. Camille B. Powers—Idaho Foreign Language Teachers Conference, Sun Valley. Mrs. Jean MacInnis—Vocational School on Dental Assisting, Klamath Falls, Ore.

SCHOLARSHIP OFFERS ANNOUNCED

MUSICIANS

Six scholarships will be given at the first annual Portland Rose Music Festival, to be held in Portland June 10, 11 and 12, according to Robert Hazen, chairman of the Rose Festival Association's music committee.

The individual competition for six $400 scholarships will be open to anyone residing in, or attending public or private high schools, junior colleges, colleges or universities in the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The individual competition will be limited to classical or semi-classical types of music.

An entry fee of $3 must accompany applications for the individual competition. Applications may be obtained from the Rose Festival Association office, Hilton Hotel, Portland, Oregon.

The individual competitions will be only half the story of the music festival. The other half will involve groups — bands, orchestras, stage bands, choral groups — who will come only by invitation.

CHIROPRACTORS

The application deadline of the American Chiropractic Association Junior College Scholarship Program has been extended to July 1, 1964, in order to make the program available to a greater number of applicants.

There are 22 ACA scholarships available to all sophomore college students who will be juniors by this June. They range from two full four-year tuition scholarships to ten $1,000 tuition scholarships and ten $500 tuition scholarships.

Track, Baseball Teams Show Form In Victories at Ontario and Home

BJC Takes Three

By Jim Poore

Boise Junior College scored three runs in the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie and go on to defeat Northwest Nazarene College 5-4 last Friday in baseball action.

Both clubs went scoreless in the first two innings until NNC broke the run column in the third inning and Gary Kollman drove in Glen Hancock and Rod Nutting with a double to left field. BJC jumped right back in the bottom of the fourth when Grady Rawls singled to left, Allen Dougal walked and Steve Rector punched a single over third base to score Rawls.

Dougal collected a home run in the sixth when he slammed the ball over the centerfielder's head.

Vyrl Alcorn singled to left in the seventh, and went to third when Joe Keeney hit a grounder to the shortstop and the throw was muffed. Alcorn and Keeney both scored on singles. After Grady Rawls singled to left and went to second, Dougal doubled him in.

James struck out 10 Crusaders as the big left-hander picked up the win while Ken Benedick was nailed with the loss.

FROM THE PRESS BOX

by

Dick Blissonette

What with all the controversy on horse racing and the gambling which is connected with it, nobody seems to realize that right here on our campus one of the biggest forms of gambling in the country is going on right now.

There are about 15 prime members in the syndicate and Lyle Smith is the ring-leader.

By now you probably have determined that I am referring to the baseball squad and all the variables which are connected with every contest they play.

Take the batter's plight for example. He is standing in the batter's box, all alone, with nothing but that little stick of wood, commonly called a bat, facing some fast-balling pitcher who throws that hard horsehide at up to 100 miles per hour. His chances of getting a base hit are pretty slim with those eight other fellows all trying to catch a pop fly, throw the runner out or as a last resort, tag him out.

When the batter finally does get a hit, a line drive down the first base line, the first baseman gets his chance to gamble. He has to decide whether to stand on the sack and let the ball whiz by or to try and catch it. If he decides the latter, another chance crops up. Will he catch it or be hit by it? Now, since baseball isn't exactly a spectator sport (that is to say the action isn't the fastest) you can expect the poor fielders to stay wide awake for the whole inning.

Mike Carter teamed up to strike out 20 Magic Valley Christian College batters and let their teammates show their power at the plate, as BJC scored a 28-2 victory over the visitors last Saturday.

Coach Lyle Smith substituted freely throughout the contest with his small amount of reserves in an attempt to keep the score down but the Broncos jumped on the Christian pitchers for 24 hits in the course of the game.

The Twin Falls school indicated a lack of batting practice, and couldn't hit the trio of pitchers thrown at them. They could only muster two hits for the day. Ron Ward, MVCC's catcher collected a homer in the third with one man aboard to put them in front 2-1 for the only time of the day.

In the sixth inning, Steve Rector led a 15-run splurge when he connected for a grand slam home run. Tom Wright also hit a round-tripper in the third. Wright went three-for-three in the game, collecting a single and double in addition to the homer.

Stan Hicks went four-for-six against the Christian pitchers as he rammed out two doubles and a pair of singles for the day. Allen Dougal punched out three singles in four times at bat and Gary Slee hit two singles in his four appearances.

Boise Junior College picked up its second track meet win of the year at Ontario by taking the Treasure Valley College Chukars Invitational, scoring 80½ points to beat second place College of Idaho by 26 points.

The Broncos won six first places in the track events and five of the six in the field.

Bill Stupin took the shot-put with a heave of 41 feet 6½ inches while Bill Smith threw the discus 124-8½ as they both took the top spot.

Steve Svitak went 12 feet in the pole vault to take first, and Jim Vail jumped 21-6¼ in the broad jump to take the first place spot.

In the high jump, Randy Ackley remained unbeaten as he went 6-1¼ and in the javelin Ackley, throwing it for the first time in his life, came within nine inches of taking first as he threw it 159-1 for second.

George Wadsworth took the 440 for the Broncos in 52.1, with Phil Hopkins close behind at 52.9. Lee Blackburn won the 880 in a time of 2:04.9.

Warren Carpenter took both the mile and two-mile runs in times of 4:49.1 and 11:02.2 respectively.

Rodeo Club Drills

The BJC Rodeo Club has been practicing Tuesday and Thursday nights at the Ernie Stevens ranch at Middleton. The club is grateful to Mr. Stevens, who donates the stock at no charge, so the members can practice everything, from bareback riding to "square wrestling."

Ken Baumgartner holds the present club record for being bucked off four times in a row. Present practices indicate excellent prospects for top honors in the May 2nd and 3rd rodeo at Jerome. Six other schools have accepted the BJC challenge to the rodeo. They are: BYU, Utah State University, Montana University, Weber State College, College of Great Falls and Idaho State University.

The rodeo will start at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 2nd, with a second go-round on the 3rd. BJC will sponsor a dance in Jerome that night after the rodeo with music by Terry and the Pirates.

Persons wishing accommodations during the Jake Pope-produced rodeo, should write the Jerome Chamber of Commerce.

SPORTS SCHEDULE

The Boise Junior College track squad, under Coach Ray Lewis, faces two meets in the next five days. The baseball team plays four games.

The cinder crew next Saturday travels to Caldwell to participate in a triangular meet with the College of Idaho and Ricks. The following Tuesday they meet College of Idaho in a dual meet at Bronco Stadium.

Meanwhile, the diamond nine, under Coach Lyle Smith's guidance, tangles with Ricks on Friday, April 24, for two games and the following day they host the Rexburg school again. The Friday games start at 1:30 p.m. while the Saturday tilt starts at 10 a.m.

Next Monday, the Broncos wage Northwest Nazarene College at BJC's diamond, with the game starting at 3:30 p.m.
